

This program is for children and youth aged 10 to 17. Participants in the course are assigned to international groups, where they take language classes along with additional activities and excursions. The language school Ardmore provides supervision for participants during the course. An adult from Poland accompanies the participants for the duration of the flight and stay.

Ardmore

Ardmore is a school with 40 years of experience in language education. It offers language courses for groups allowing for an in-depth exploration of Los Angeles. The language course includes 20 morning or afternoon English lessons, during which children learn through projects and interactive lessons with experienced native speakers. The classes are held at the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA), founded in 1919, which is one of the best universities in the world.
